U. S. POLICIES
WITHIN REICH ARE REVEALEDEISENHOWER TOLD TO CRUSH NAZI
MILITARISM

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—The April directive which ordered General Eisenhower to treat Germany as a "defeated enemy nation with the objective of preventing her from ever again becoming a threat to the peace of the world," was made public today by the state department.

The directive set up regulations for Eisenhower in governing the American occupation zone of Germany.

In many respects, the order—subject to much speculation during the six months it was kept secret—paralleled the provisions on Germany in the Potsdam big three communique.

The differences appeared to be largely ones of detail.

Fraternization Ban Eased
Part I, dealing with general and political policy, specifies that the Allied control council—composed of Eisenhower and the Russian, British, and French zone commanders—will have authority "paramount throughout Germany."

Subject to that provision, however, Eisenhower is given "supreme legislative, executive and judicial authority" in the American zone.

Eisenhower is instructed to direct his administration towards the decentralization of the political, administrative, and economic structure of Germany and the development of local responsibility. One provision instructs him that the control council should facilitate "severance of all governmental and administrative connections between Austria and Germany and the elimination of German economic influences in Austria."

"Germany will not be occupied for the purpose of liberation but as a defeated enemy nation," the directive says. It orders Eisenhower to "strongly discourage fraternization with the German officials and population"—a provision which has since been relaxed.

Reconstruction Provided

The directive lists as the principle Allied objective the prevention of Germany from again threatening world peace, and lists as "essential steps" in its accomplishment:

1. Elimination of Nazism and militarism in all their forms.
2. Immediate apprehension of war criminals for punishment.
3. Industrial disarmament and demilitarization of Germany, "with continuing controls over Germany's capacity to make war."
4. Preparation for an eventual reconstruction of German political life on a democratic basis.

Supplementary Allied objectives listed are:

1. To enforce the program of reparations and restitution.
2. To provide relief for the benefit of countries devastated by Nazi aggression.
3. To insure that prisoners of war and displaced persons of the United Nations are cared for and rehabilitated.

In the section of de-Nazification, all Nazi party members "who have been more than nominal participants in its activities" are ordered removed and excluded from public office and other specified positions of importance, including those related to the press and news dissemination.

No political activities of any kind are to be permitted unless authorized by Eisenhower and he is asked to "ensure that your military government does not become committed to any political group."

One Atomic Raid Could
Kill 40,000,000 People,
Scientist Tells Solons

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Congress was told today that 40,000,000 Americans could be killed in one overnight atomic raid if there is "one false move in international diplomacy."

Dr. H. J. Curtis, one of the men who helped make the atom bomb, called for a "miracle" in international relations to prevent a "war too horrible to contemplate." He said the impelling motives for a miraculous improvement in diplomacy "should be just as strong as those which moved us to create the atomic bomb."

Dr. Curtis testified at a joint senate military-commerce subcommittee hearing on behalf of the Association of Oak Ridge Scientists. The hearings are on a proposed National Science Foundation to explore the atom and other scientific developments.

"We regret that the atomic age began, of necessity, with hideous destruction," Dr. Curtis said. "Our only consolation is that it helped to achieve a peace which must now be maintained."

"We have concluded," he went on, "that the interests of this country will be served by turning over control of atomic energy to an international authority whose function will be to regulate the development of atomic energy so that the atomic bomb will be used only by a world authority if necessary for the enforcement of peace."

Curtis' testimony stressed the thesis that an American policy of atomic secrecy would breed the most dangerous sort of world distrust.

At any rate, he said, "the only remaining secrets are technical details which any intelligent group of scientists and engineers could work out in a relatively short time."

President Truman has spoken of retaining here the industrial know-how of making a bomb. But Curtis said "it is impossible to distinguish between the purely scientific facts and the industrial processes."

Both were taken into custody Monday. Sheriff Edward K. Thomas emphasized that no charges had been placed against either. Mrs. Budnik and Thompson, the sheriff said, told him they had been close friends for more than two years.

The sheriff and Prosecutor Donald C. Noggle said Mrs. Budnik had told a straight-forward story which had been corroborated by a polygraph (lie detector) test. Similarly, the officers said, Thompson's statements were supported by the lie detector.

The hearing ended in a spirited verbal battle between Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler and the three defense attorneys. Sigler objected strenuously to the motion for a mistrial, which he declared called him "unethical" and accused him of "indulging in prejudicial practices."

Four Detroiters—Harry and Sam Fleisher, Pete Mahoney and Mike Solik, convicted and sentenced for conspiracy to murder the late Senator Warren G. Hooper—are at liberty under bond pending Judge Hatch's opinion, expected some time this week.

Defense Counsel R. G. Leitch of Battle Creek, Maurice Walsh of Chicago and Edward Kennedy of Detroit listed 43 reasons for a mistrial.

This is the second lease of state-owned lands for mining purposes. Approximately 12,000 acres in Dickinson county was leased to Pickands-Mather and company of Cleveland a year ago.

Lansing, Oct. 17 (AP)—The State Conservation Department today said there were no forest fires reported in the state during the last week to continue the record-low fire loss for the fall season.

PACIFIC FLEET
AT NEW YORKBATTLE-SCARRED
WARSHIPS HOME
FOR NAVY DAY

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mighty units of the Pacific fleet which blockaded Japan and helped bring that nation to defeat steamed into New York harbor today.

Ten battle-scarred warships, headed by the famous aircraft carrier Monterey, bearing flags which told in navy code of its record of 500 Jap planes shot down, hundreds of others damaged, and at least five warships sunk, comprised the group.

They were the vanguard of 50 fighting ships which will be here October 27 to participate in the Navy Day celebration. President Truman will review the ships from a destroyer. The array of sea strength will be spread over a seven-mile stretch in the Hudson river.

Close behind the Monterey came the carrier Enterprise—the "Big E"—which fought in 18 of the major Pacific naval battles after the Japanese had reported her sunk.

Then came in succession the carrier Bataan, the heavy cruiser Portland and the destroyers Foote, Young, Aulick, Douglas H. Fox and the Sterett.

The Statue of Liberty, her night torch light turned off a few minutes before, stood in the red haze of dawn as the fleet moved majestically past her. Blimps and airplanes circled overhead, and PT torpedo boats leaped in and out of the line and zipped around the carriers.

Forty-three other warships will arrive here in the next few days to take part in the celebration. Among them will be the battleship Missouri, aboard which the Japanese signed the papers of surrender.

Three of those which arrived today, the Portland, Bataan and Sterett, will leave soon for celebrations in other ports.

Hundreds of persons crowded around pier 26 when the Monterey and the Enterprise nosed in at opposite sides of the dock. Many were mothers seeking a possible glimpse of their boys. They pressed against a pier gate, and police had to move them back behind wooden barriers.

NO SLOWING DOWN

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal said today the return of scores of warships for Navy Day celebrations will not slow down homeward movements of the armed forces.

The statement was in a letter

Following graduation Wolf will study the piano and music composition, probably in the east, said his father, Morris H. Wolf, attorney.

Cut Of One-Third Is Advocated For Federal Spending

BY TOM REEDY

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Congress set out today to cut government spending this year by almost one-third.

The first action of such magnitude in many years was initiated by the house appropriations committee, acting on President Truman's recommendations with some ideas of its own thrown in.

The committee reported to the house a bill to cancel $52,453,535, 278 in previously authorized spending for this fiscal year ending June 30, 1946.

There had been $170,000,000,000 made available for this 12 months, voted at a time when the nation was fighting a war on two fronts.

This recapturing of funds does not mean a tax cut, however, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) was quick to point out. He said it simply means slowing down the rate at which the national debt is piling up.

The committee released reports on bulky hearings in which this testimony was highlighted:

Army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall urged a continued large military establishment. He said the atom bomb doesn't mean the end of armies and navies, that striking forces still will be needed to stop an aggressor from launching such weapons.

The committee recommended a slash of $2,430,000 in the funds of the FBI though Director J. Edgar Hoover predicted "a rather serious crime wave." He had asked for a staff of 8,223 and got only 6,000.

The sharp cuts in the bill were directed mainly at the military establishments. The proposed reductions:

Army—$30,903,090,564.

Navy—$17,662,163,961.

Miscellaneous executive agencies—$3,887,090,253 (mostly defense aid-lend lease).

A slash of $12,166,313,000 was advised for the Army Air Forces which plan to dispose of 42,222 of their 62,045 planes. The Navy Air Force would be cut $3,481,300,000. The committee said they have 41,000 planes and intend to get rid of 24,000.

Attached to the bill was a ban against further ship building this fiscal year, plus a demand for more rapid demobilization of the army-navy personnel.

ARMED FORCES
MERGER ASKED

Truman Will Try To Put Over Peace Military Training Program

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson asked Congress today to combine the army and navy. And President Truman is going to ask it for some kind of peacetime military training for all the young men of America.

Mr. Truman will address Senate and House Tuesday on military training—in person. He has a selling job to do in a Congress reluctant even to consider the subject now.

Patterson talked to the Senate military committee. He urged it to act quickly on a plan to merge the armed forces, with subordinate branches for air, ground and sea. Some of his reasons:

1. It's the best way to maintain American security and "the continuation of world peace."

2. It would have saved billions during the war and might have ended it sooner.

3. It can bring about many economies now by stopping "conflict, duplication and overlapping."

4. Unified command worked in the field during the war—but "adequate cooperation" was possible in Washington only through the president as commander-in-chief.

5. Army and navy now have no chance to submit a single defense plan to Congress.

As the secretary finished, Acting Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) called the merger plan "logical and convincing." But next week the committee hears the navy, which is expected to oppose the plan.

OUSTED PERON BACK IN POWER

New Argentina Cabinet Forced; Thousands Celebrate

Buenos Aires, Thursday, Oct. 18. (AP)—Col. Juan Peron, after a brief eclipse, returned to power today, forcing the formation of a new cabinet of his friends and calling a general strike to celebrate "a day of glory for the workers."

Speaking to thousands jammed into the Plaza Mayo in front of Government House last night, Peron, who was ousted Oct. 9 by the military and had been in custody, said he had resigned his commission in the army to lead the Argentine workers to what he called further economic victories.

Although urged by Peron to disperse peacefully after the mass meeting, there was an outbreak of heavy shooting in front of the newspaper Critica which has been an outspoken critic of Peron. Critica sounded its siren in a call for police aid. The newspaper La Prensa also was attacked.

Ex-Convict Admits Grand Rapids Bank Robbery On May 28

Grand Rapids, Oct. 17 (AP)—Louis Holliday, 28-year-old ex-convict, Wednesday confessed the $2,000 armed robbery of a Peoples National Branch bank here May 28, following his arrest in a Columbus, Ohio hospital, the FBI announced.

Holliday, sought here since the bank was held up May 28, went to the hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds. Howard I. Bobbit, special agent in charge of the FBI here said.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Garner of Columbus quoted Holliday as saying he was wounded in an exchange of shots in which a Columbus filling station operator was killed but declared he had no part in the shooting. He is being held without charge in the Columbus shooting.

Bobbit said Holliday told FBI agents in Columbus that "he held up the Grand Rapids bank with a revolver loaded with five wooden bullets. Three employees of the bank were held at bay during the holdup."

Four Steps Taken Toward Democracy By Jap Government

Tokyo, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Japanese nation took four important steps toward democracy today. They are:

1. Emperor Hirohito granted amnesty to nearly 1,000,000 Japanese as an openly avowed move to unite the country "in meeting a great change in history."

2. Four major Japanese industrial holding companies, Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo and Yasuda, decided to offer all their shares for sale to the public, the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi said.

3. The Japanese cabinet, in further compliance with General MacArthur's directive for freedom of thought and speech in Japan, decided to repeal the religious organizations law established as a wartime control, Domei news agency reported.

4. General MacArthur issued a directive freeing the Japanese motion picture industry from all government domination to allow it to "reflect the democratic aspirations of the Japanese people."

he said he had written in response to numerous complaints from Congress and elsewhere.

The letter, made public by the navy, reported that 750,000 men will come home from the Pacific in warships alone in the next 11 months.

Explaining that Navy Day, October 27, was designed to pay tribute to the navy's achievement, Forrestal wrote:

"I would not have such an event marred by an erroneous belief that it is slowing down demobilization. Therefore, I hope everyone will understand that no vessel which could carry men is being held in port merely to celebrate Navy Day."

Forrestal mentioned that "some warships will be in port for conversion and overhaul—installation of berths and messing facilities, for example—before entering transport duty."

The navy has been bringing some army men home for discharge on warships but it has announced no program as yet for devoting fighting ships to exclusive transport duty.

The warships returning for Navy Day are bringing home their own crews, including many men eligible for release, Forrestal said.

In 1691, William and Mary granted letters of patent to Thomas Neale to establish a postal service in the colony. He was to have a monopoly of 21 years, and was authorized to "charge such rates and sums of money as the planters shall agree to give."

Nazi Party Master Files Are Located; 8,000,000 Listed

Berlin, Oct. 17 (AP)—American military authorities disclosed today that they had seized the Nazi party's master personnel files listing nearly 8,000,000 party members, including thousands who were members of Nazi-sponsored groups in the United States, Argentina, and other foreign countries.

The files, which also contain the names of another 2,000,000 who were rejected as members and a "blacklist" of those expelled from the party, were regarded as among the most important documentary catches yet made.

Apparently those belonging to Nazi-sponsored groups abroad were considered as good Nazis as those at home. They lived in virtually every country, and were particularly numerous in such South American countries as Argentina. Their cards were grouped together under the Auslands Deutsche organization.

The files gave the Allies the first official figures on the number of Nazi party members. Discounting the number of deaths, expulsions and resignations, American authorities estimated the party at its peak had about 7,000,000 active adherents.

The files contained a careful record of every person who joined the party or who aspired to join. The record of one rejected applicant living in Germany contained a plea addressed to Adolf Hitler on his behalf by Fritz Kuhn, former Bund leader in New York.

The rejected man had a brother in New York who was a faithful Nazi, Kuhn wrote, asking that Hitler review the case with this in mind. Hitler's action was not noted.

Game Law Changes To Be Considered At Iron Mountain

Lansing, Oct. 17 (AP)—Changes in game law regulations to be presented to the state conservation commission will be considered by the Northern Michigan Sportsman's association at its annual meeting in Iron Mountain on October 21.

Delegates were reported in favor of an open season on bear in 1946, a closed season for one year on partridge, prairie chicken and sharp tailed grouse in the western Upper Peninsula, a shortened ice fishing season, and the taking of one deer of either sex by bow and arrow hunters during the archery deer season.

Domestic airlines operated 350 commercial liners before the war. Easy conversion of military aircraft is expected to put more than 1500 planes in this service shortly.

BACK FROM OVERSEAS

Captain Elbin J. Strom of Munising returned home Wednesday, Oct. 10, after serving three and one half years with the 826th, and 829th Engineers Aviation Bn.; three years of these were spent in the E. T. O. in England and France.

As a reserve officer, receiving his second lieutenantcy at Michigan State College, Lansing, in the R. O. T. C. Captain Strom was called to report for duty July 8, 1942 at Lowry Field, Colorado. Two weeks later he flew to Washington, D. C. and then transferred to Fort Dix, New Jersey. Six weeks after enlistment he was scheduled to go overseas on a secret mission with the Air Force. Last minute changes necessitated his unloading his baggage from the ship and back to Fort Dix as instructor. On December 7, 1942, he sailed for England without overseas furlough.

At Brome Field, England, his work was directing construction of airbases, quarters, runways and taxiways. German bombers and later buzz bombs, interrupted and destroyed many of their emplacements and killed and wounded personnel. In '43 he was made 1st. Lieut. and assigned as company commander, later becoming Engineering Officer for the 827th Engineers Aviation Bn. In February 1945, he received his captaincy and in July was transferred to Orly Field, ten miles outside of Paris; to help direct work on the construction of what will be the largest Air Field in Europe. Le Havre, France was his sailing port on September 26. He is on terminal leave until January 6.

Captain Strom's wife and three children have resided in Munising.

City Commission Makes Budget Cut

Munising—The city commission at their meeting held Tuesday evening set the 1946 budget at $54,000, a reduction of $1,000 from the 1945 budget.

A total of $101,193.11 is expected to be paid out for the cost of operating for the coming year for the following funds:

General Fund	$13,100.22
Street Fund	43,730.00
Fire Fund	11,475.00
Water Fund	10,294.72
Police Fund	8,918.17
Park and Cemetery Fund	7,200.00
Sinking Fund	6,475.00

Total $101,193.11 Less anticipated receipts 47,193.11

$ 54,000.00

The total of $54,000 represents the total to be raised by taxation. An important item in the anticipated receipts is the sum of $11,000 expected to be rebated back to the city under the new liquor tax which went into effect the first of June. Based on the June rebate which totaled nearly $1,000, the city should realize nearly $1,000 a month.

A request by the newly organized Moose lodge for a club license to sell or handle liquor and beer was approved by the commission.

CONSIDER FIFTH WELL FOR CITY

Escanaba's Water System Would Be Completed By Addition

The Layne-Northwest Drilling company of Milwaukee is to prepare without cost to the city of Escanaba an estimate on the cost of drilling a fifth deep well to complete the city's water supply system, City Manager A. V. Aronson said Tuesday before leaving for a Michigan Municipal League conference at Traverse City.

Engineers of the company have advised the city manager that they do not consider it possible to case off any part of present Well No. 4, whose water shows a high content of iron, to make the water acceptable for use. They advised salvaging some of the casing and abandoning the well.

No. 4 well was drilled at about the same time as the other deep wells three years ago. When pumped, however, it was discovered that the water had a comparatively high content of iron that made it necessary to stop the use of the well.

The city is now operating the four remaining wells which, with the use of the new elevated water storage tank, provides an ample supply of water for off-peak periods of the year. During the summer season, however, water has been pumped from the bay to augment the supply from the wells.

The Layne-Northwest company engineers advised the manager that one more well might provide enough flow to end the need for operating the pumping station on the bay shore. When that condition is attained the pumping station will be razed.

Automatic controls for the filling of the elevated water storage tank are now being installed. A pressure gauge in No. 2 well pumping station near the tank will record on a dial in the police station the number of feet of water in the tank, which holds a total one-half million gallons.

Reconversion No Major Problem For Birds Eye Veneer Company Here

The Birds Eye Veneer company is back in peacetime production, thank you.

The reconversion problem at the Escanaba plant was no problem at all, despite the fact that approximately 80 per cent of the company's business during the war years was in essential war production. Government contracts were cancelled with a bang two days after V-J Day but the local mill was prepared for just such an eventuality and immediately went to work on civilian orders that had been held in readiness.

Today the Birds Eye Veneer company is producing to the capacity of its drier equipment and is manufacturing some of the most beautiful veneers of its history.

Emphasis On Beauty

Emphasis during the hectic period of war production, of course, was not on beauty but on maximum production of the specific types of veneer required for airplane construction, radar antenna poles and a myriad of other war commodities.

Reconverted to peacetime production, however, the emphasis is again on the manufacture of beautiful veneer in curly maple, birds eye maple, birch, elm, basswood and the other species of northern woods.

Moreover, something new has been added—sycamore veneer. The local mill has never before produced sycamore veneer but recently purchased a quantity of huge sycamore logs. Experiments have shown striking results in beauty of quartered sycamore veneer, which will be used in the production of furniture.

The sycamore logs, in fact, are so huge that some of them actually are "quartered" in eighths to be conveniently handled in the veneer mill.

Veneer Also Sliced

A considerable proportion of the veneer production at the Birds Eye plant is in quartered veneer. In this process the logs are sawed in four quarters and then the veneer is sliced from the log much as a housewife would slice a loaf of bread. The purpose of this procedure is to bring out the most beautiful grain of the wood and produces striking effects. This process is in contrast to the rotary lathe production of veneer in which the veneer is removed in a circular manner from the log.

Juel Lee, general manager of the Birds Eye company, reported yesterday that the company is operating two shifts in the green mill and a single shift in the main plant and the basswood mill. Although the demand for veneer is great, further expansion of production is impossible because production must necessarily be limited to the capacity of the drying equipment. Since much of the veneer being produced for furniture manufacturing is of greater thickness than the bulk of the veneer produced for war production, the drying process requires longer time.

The log supply is adequate, the general manager reported, and shipments are arriving daily from a wide territory.

A Shoestring Era

ADMIRAL HALSEY, the man with the colorful speech, added a bit to Naval lore at San Francisco Tuesday when he declared that the proper shoulder patch for the South Pacific force in the early days of the war should have been a frayed shoelace, fastened with a rusty nail.

The hard hitting Halsey was referring, of course, to that tragic period of the war when everything was too little and too late from the American side of the Pacific battle. We had too few naval ships, too little ammunition, too few airplanes, too few everything except that grand old American spirit of grim determination and courage.

Admiral Halsey is retiring soon from the Navy after a most colorful and fruitful career. He has earned a rest. It was men like Halsey who literally picked the American fighting forces off the mat and drove onward to decisive victory.

We have learned a lesson if we take heed of the tragic circumstances in which we found ourselves after the fall of Bataan. Never again shall the United States be forced to adopt as a shoulder patch for any of its fighting forces a frayed shoelace-fastened with a rusty nail.

Honeymoon Is Over

THE popularity that Harry S. Truman enjoyed during the first several months after assuming the presidency has begun to wane.

While the war was in progress, President Truman received the fullest cooperation from Republicans and Democrats alike. Having been a popular member of the Senate, he was expected to maintain much more cordial relations with Congress than his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Warm friendship still exists between Truman and Congress, but the president does not seem to be getting anywhere with controversial legislation conceived in the White House. Truman is the jolly good fellow type, and he shows a tendency to go off half-cocked with his comments on important domestic and foreign issues. His ill-advised statement that the United States should not share the atomic bomb secret, for instance, came as a shock to foreign policy makers in the state department.

President Truman's efforts to compromise the differences of liberals and conservatives in the Democratic party have been getting him in bad with both sides. But political observers see in the chief executive's proneness to let important issues drift the piling up of many difficulties in the future. The honeymoon is over, and from now on the Republican opposition will seek to capitalize whatever weaknesses the Truman administration may develop. The elections are not so far away.

Navy Reduces Points

THE reduction in critical point scores for Navy discharges is good news for thousands of sailors and indicates a whole-some desire by the Navy to demobilize its war-swollen forces as rapidly as possible.

The new schedule is particularly encouraging because it steps up the previously announced Navy discharge program by at least two months. The importance of this to sailors who have been at sea or foreign ports for years and who now want to be returned to their families as quickly as possible cannot be overestimated.

The Navy demobilization schedule announced Tuesday is effective November 1, providing releases for men with 41 points or more, based upon age, length of service, combat participation and dependency. Furthermore, the schedule indicates further reductions in point scores for successive months. The procedure provides a fairly stable basis for Navy men to determine their ultimate discharge date.

Improving Main Streets

BEFORE the war, Escanaba's business district was greatly improved in appearance as a result of the modernization of store fronts. The improvements were undertaken by merchants on their own initiative, although their decisions may have been prompted by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce promotion of Escanaba as a retail shopping center.

Soon, Escanaba merchants will be in a position again to embark upon extensive merchandising programs. They will want to renovate the exteriors and interiors of their stores to make them more attractive, thereby drawing more trade.

Perhaps, Escanaba and other communities in this area would achieve greater results by group action as is being done elsewhere in the country. Merchants are getting together in Elgin, Ill., Rome, N. Y., Kankakee, Ill., Franklin Square, Long Island, and Burlingame, Calif., to completely modernize whole blocks. Ludington street could stand a good "face lifting" to keep Escanaba in step with what other progressive communities are doing.

Promoting Safety

ARTHUR BARTLETT, in a Woman's Home Companion article, has made two sound suggestions for curbing the rise in automobile accidents which, with the end of gasoline and speed restrictions, has commenced already. He advocates bringing the motor vehicle laws of all states up to a uniform standard, and instituting driving classes in all high schools.

In connection with the first suggestion, the writer recalls that President Truman, as a senator, introduced a bill which would require anyone driving over a state line to have a federal license, issued on the basis of a physical examination and a minimum age. He also points out that three states still require no driver's license, while requirements in the other vary from a thorough examination to none at all.

As for driving courses, Mr. Bartlett produces figures to show that drivers under 21 get in almost twice as many accidents as older motorists, and that 16-year-olds are involved in fatal accidents nine times as often as drivers of 45 to 50. Some cities already have high school driving instruction, and studies show their value in preventing accidents.

Everyone agrees that something must be done to prevent the return of our appalling prewar traffic slaughter. We believe that Mr. Bartlett has a sensible program which can help toward greater safety, and which deserves following up, local and nationally.

THE LOCAL EXPANSION PROGRAM

(Marinette Eagle-Star)

The post-war industrial expansion program took on proportions during the last few days in two announcements—one dealing with plans of the Boreal Manufacturing Company and the other with that of Kimberly-Clark Corporation at Niagara. The Ansul Chemical Company's plans are already well known. To say that these developments should renew our faith in the future of Marinette county is stating it mildly.

From the standpoint of investment, the $5,000,000 program for the Niagara mill probably is the largest single project ever announced for this county. Despite the fact that Niagara is located a relatively long distance from Marinette, numerous benefits can be expected by this community. Important so far as the city of Marinette is concerned is the possibility that developments at Niagara may be the forerunner of other expansions of a similar nature directly affecting this city.

Assuming there will be no legal hitch, the likelihood of such difficulties being remote, the Boreal program will mean much to the city of Marinette because the Eisendrath Glove company, parent organization, will transfer all of its manufacturing and shipping operations to Marinette. Additional space for these operations will be provided when the construction of a new building is completed. Likewise the plans for the Badger Manufacturing company, which must also await the formality of legal proceedings being carried out by the city, will mean much to the future of Marinette.

Much of the credit for the satisfactory developments so far as the Boreal and Badger companies are concerned goes to the mayor, the common council and officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce. They have left nothing undone to pave the way for industrial expansion here.

OPPORTUNITY

(Green Bay Press-Gazette)

Andy Paiko, the Cubs' center fielder, who broke into professional baseball through the Green Bay Bluejays in the Wisconsin league a few years ago, is today a prominent example of opportunity in athletics.

Paiko's share of the world series pool was over $4,000. Probably his income for the baseball season totaled $15,000 or more. Up in Dunn county, from where Paiko hails, a fellow can buy a pretty fine farm for that sum of money. And Paiko understands farming.

Next year, we hope, the Wisconsin league will be going again, offering tryouts to rugged youngsters who have the splendid physical coordination necessitated for a top athlete. It may be a relatively small contribution to the great stream that is America but it must not be neglected any more than any other rill gathering moisture for the Father of the Waters.

Farm boys or industrial workers, or anyone else for that matter, cannot find opportunity by rubbing an old brass lamp. But if they have the heart and the hope and the legs and all the other requirements, they can find a prolonged tryout in the Wisconsin league, and which is told in official figures that in themselves attract scouts who come to watch from the grandstand and pass their expert opinions.

Perhaps that is one of the reasons why America is enamored of baseball. It is democratic to the core.

Q. Is the songbird, the canary, named for the Canary Islands, or vice versa?

A. The gentle, delicate little singer known as the canary has as odd a name as any creature in the animal kingdom. Actually, the bird is of the finch family, and in its original wild state it is grayish brown in color. The bright yellow of the domesticated bird has resulted from careful selective breeding.

This is how the canary got its name. About 40 B. C. Juba, King of Mauritania, discovered an island group off the northwestern coast of Africa. The king and the members of his expedition were amazed to find multitudes of large, fierce, wild dogs upon one of the isles. Whereupon, according to the elder Pliny, Juba called the island "Insula Canari," meaning "island of the dogs" (from the Latin canis, "dog").

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Organized labor is riding for a fall.

This conclusion has nothing to do with the merits or demerits of the arguments the unions are making for higher wages.

In asking for higher wages to sustain purchasing power in the face of the ever increasing productivity of the machine, labor can make a strong case.

It is based, rather, on the politics of the transition period. All the grievances, the annoyances, the irritations, the inequities of mass unionization—long delayed and arriving, finally, with a rush—have now come to a head.

On top of this is the insecurity that many people feel in this trying time between war and peace. Veterans out of the services and men still in uniform are wondering whether they will get jobs in our highly competitive system.

—ANTI-LABOR LAWS FORESEEN—

Whether the current rash of strikes will impede reconversion, and to what degree, is beside the point. The forces opposed to the unions can turn the fear and resentment, which grow out of doubt and uncertainty, against labor on strike.

Add to this the fact that legislation and supreme court decisions of the past 12 years give labor most of the breaks. While for many years prior to 1933 the advantages were all on the other side, such ancient history counts for little in forming current opinion.

With this combination of pressures building up, Congress is beginning to talk about drastic new labor laws. Given the disposition of the present congress, little prodding was needed in any event.

This is a fact which organized labor must face sooner or later. If labor leaders are wise, they will make fairly generous concessions in anticipation of these demands. They will recognize that on at least four major points labor legislation is lopsided or deficient.

1.—The most glaring weakness is the lack of any sanctions, other than the clumsy method of plant seizure, to deal with stoppages and strikes where one or both parties are unwilling to arbitrate. Seizure of the oil refineries, under the war powers, was a good illustration of the clumsiness and the futility of this method.

2.—The lack of any protection for individual workers' rights against strongly centralized, tightly dominated unions, such as the United Mine Workers. At a UMW convention, representatives of minority factions who tried to speak were given strong-arm treatment.

3.—The powerlessness of the National Labor Relations Board to enforce its orders against unions. While the board can go to court to compel an employer to recognize and bargain with the certified union, the board is unable to protect that employer from strikes and secondary boycotts by outside unions trying to force a closed shop on him, irrespective of the wishes of his own employees, and even in the face of certification of the rival union.

4.—The invasion by unions of the management field. Organization of foremen in mass production industries represents a new departure in American trade unionism. The union can make a grievance out of the failure of a company to discharge an obnoxious foreman, with the result that discipline breaks down in the plant.

—DEFECTS ARE PLAIN—
These major defects in our collective bargaining system are all reflected in current headlines. They are reflected, too, in the unhappy dilemma of the Secretary of Labor, Lewis B. Schwellenbach, who is trying without any of the essential tools to cure a situation that can undo all the efforts of the Truman administration to convert the economy from war to peace.

For some time the administration has been trying to get agreement to a new wage-price formula. Secretary of commerce Henry Wallace publicly suggested a 15 to 20 per cent wage increase, with a 4 to 5 per cent price boost. Labor spokesmen have opposed such a formula, believing they can get more by fighting it out.

At this moment, with reconversion in a critical stage, that seems a shortsighted stand. Labor still has great political power. But the winds of opinion are shifting and the story may be different in 1948.

The Jap war criminal has reached the end of his rope. Now to see that it's the loop end.

New cars on the market are going to affect fashions—bringing the jumper back into style.

An 18 per cent luxury tax on haircuts has been imposed in France. Sit right down and get trimmed!

The modern girl is wise, says a professor. No wonder—she passes an examination every time she meets a man.

Centuries later, when the islands were rediscovered and were finally taken over by the Spanish, the name became "Las Islas Canarias." It was natural that the lively little birds, which were so abundant on the islands, would be named for the place of their origin.

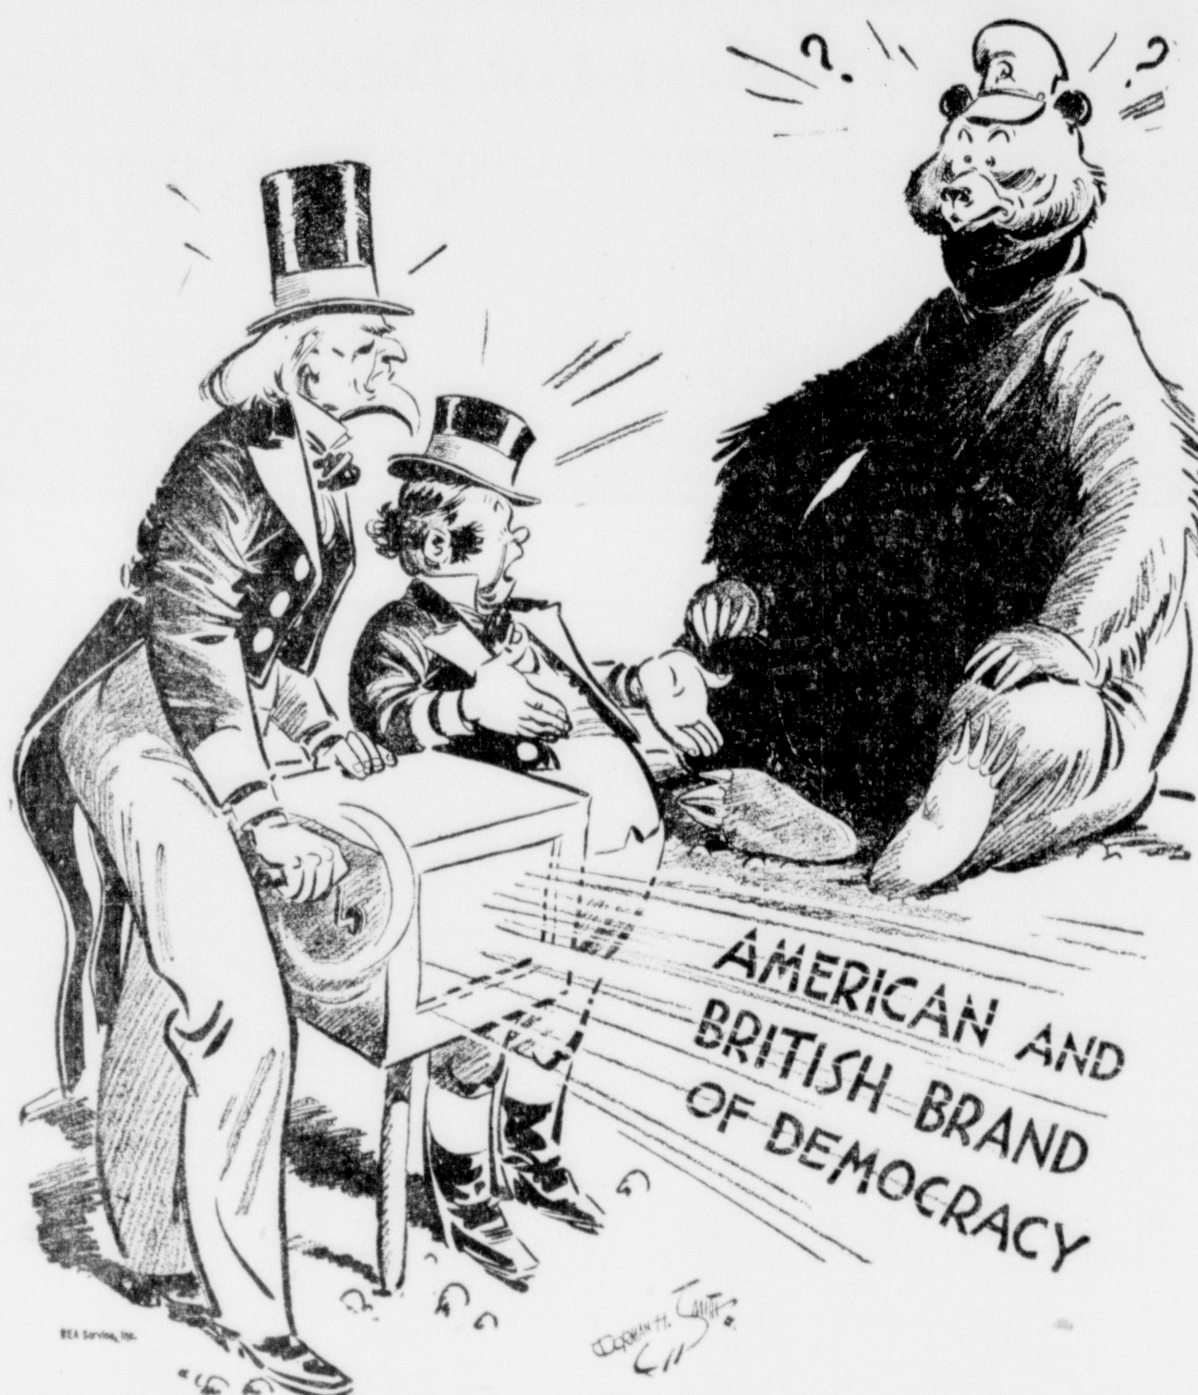

The Italians first domesticated the birds in the 14th century. When the songsters became popular in England canaria was Anglicized and became canary.

Q. Is the "News" good or bad in Newport News, Virginia?

A. In 1621 a number of Irish colonists settled there. In honor of Capt. Christopher Newport and Sir William Newce (the latter had chosen the site for the future city) the place was called "Newport Newce."

For an unknown reason, but probably because scarcely anyone was well versed in spelling in early colonial days, Newce in time grew into News. And so it is that the Virginia city is the only place in the country that has a name like a newspaper.

IN THE MOVIES—Many of our GIs have had the opportunity to appear before motion picture cameras during the war, for this has been one of the most filmed of all conflicts, as you would expect in an age when the movies are so much a part of our modern way of life.

Parents of many boys have seen their sons in documentary war films when the pictures came to home town theaters. Others have been informed in letters from the boys that they have been "in the movies" but the parents missed seeing their sons in the fleeting glimpses of battle action as depicted by the news reels.

GETS A CHANCE—In this latter class is an Escanaba boy, First Sgt. Lester F. Schram, who recently received an honorable discharge from the Army Air Forces at Portland, Oregon, after five years and two months of service. He was qualified as a parachute jumper and served in the Hawaiian and Aleutian Islands.

Mrs. Schram, the former Alice Clark, and their young daughter, who formerly resided at 1011 First avenue south, have joined the husband and father at Medford. Perhaps by this time the family has gone to Hollywood, where Schram reports that he will be employed.

But this is about Schram's opportunity to act in the movies, and perhaps we'd better get back to the subject.

IT'S TECHNICOLOR, TOO—While still in service awaiting discharge in Oregon, Schram got his chance to do a little acting. He writes:

"Thought it might be of some interest to my friends in Escanaba to know that I recently took part as an extra in a technicolor movie being filmed at nearby Diamond Lake. It is a Universal picture called 'Canyon Passage' and is a story of Oregon in the 1850's."

"Stars in the picture are Brian Donlevy, Susan Hayward, Dana Andrews, Ward Bond, Andy Devine and Lloyd Bridges."

IN TEN SCENES—"I worked with them in various scenes (10 in all) and enjoyed it very much. I appear in a cabin-raising scene. I had various roles in the ten scenes, but most of the time I was 'on guard' for Indians, and carried a rifle while the cabin was being built."

"There was another scene in which I sat up in front on a wagon beside the driver. We were bringing a load of rocks in the wagon pulled by a mule team to the cabin for building a fire place. I was made up with long side burns, wore a brown hat, blue checked shirt, light blue pants and rubber boots."

"I worked five days in the picture and could have worked another week or so—but was called back for discharge. I came back from overseas about a year ago, and will be discharged on the point system. My wife and daughter are living here in Medford and we will all go to Hollywood where I will be employed."

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

Genoa, Italy—Guglielmo Marconi, distinguished Italian inventor, and his micro-wave, which he believes will be a new and extremely useful weapon of war, will soon be on the American front. The inventor has announced he would confer with Premier Mussolini about a military assignment in Eritrea.

Harvey H. Spindler, U. S. weather bureau observer here for many years, has been placed on the pension list, and will leave Nov. 1 for his old home in Orville, Ohio.

Miss Isobel Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Curran, Escanaba, and Harvey M. Maresch of Milwaukee were married in the rectory of St. Patrick's church here Thursday.

The Basic Corporation, capitalized at $1,000,000, has been organized under the laws of the state of Illinois, to manufacture and develop fertilizer minerals on the east shore of Little Bay de Noc. The deposit was discovered by Michael Gunter several years ago and has been placed on the market under the name of "Soil Manure." Officers of the company are: M. K. Bissell, president; Michael Gunter, vice president and treasurer; and John A. Stromberg, secretary.

Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Cotton have returned from Grand Haven, where they were called by the illness and subsequent death of Dr. Charles Cotton.

movies or the theater.

Perhaps the most outstanding (and she is now retired) is Charlotte "Lottie" Mineau, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mineau. She attended school here, went to business school in Green Bay, and shortly thereafter went to Chicago where she started with the old Essany company in the days when the movies were so much in their infancy they had not learned to talk.

Time was when Miss Mineau's appearances on the screen at local movie houses was watched with interest by those "who had known her when." And she had a long and outstanding screen career in silent films.

She played leads in the George Ade fables, later co-starred with Wallace Berry in a series of pictures. From Chicago to Hollywood was an inevitable jump. There she was associated with Charles Chaplin in the early-day hits of that famous pantomimist for two years. Later appeared in leading roles with Charles Murray, Ford Sterling, Harry Langdon and other comedy stars.

In free-lancing (and this will bring a nostalgic tear to the older generation) she supported such noted stars as Mary Miles Minter, Mabel Normand, Owen Moore, Laurette Taylor and Mary Pickford. Incidentally, Laurette Taylor is winning acclaim from the critics for her performance in "The Glass Menagerie" at the New York stage. Miss Mineau is now retired and lives in Los Angeles.

AND WALTER LONG—Although not born here, Walter Long has been claimed by Escanaba because of his many appearances here in early-day stock, and his marriage to the late Laura Roblee, an Escanaba girl. He has appeared with distinction in many of the earlier film classics, is now on the New York stage.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The next two months of President Truman's life are filled with junkets similar to that which he has just taken through the heart of the Mark Twain country. At first, newsmen covering the White House figured that he took these trips for political reasons, but they have now changed their minds.

The President takes these junkets because he loves them. Never since that fateful April day when he took the oath of office has he had more fun than at Caruthersville, Mo., where he swapped yarns with the local postmaster, got up at 6:15 to "spit" in the Mississippi river, and ran out in the street to ring the bell of a small-scale locomotive.

The locomotive was being conducted through the streets of Caruthersville by the "Forty and Eight" Club of the American Legion (commemorating the "40 men—8 horses" capacity of French freight cars in the last war). Suddenly the President of the United States spied it. Perhaps it reminded him of 1918 when he unloaded artillery horses from those same French freight cars in the Meuse sector. Or perhaps he just felt very much at home in Caruthersville.

Anyway, with a shout to War Mobilizer John Snyder, who once worked behind the cashier's cage of small-town Missouri-Arkansas banks, Harry went over to the locomotive. Right then and there the War Mobilizer and the President of the United States had the time of their lives staging a locomotive bell-pulling contest.

—SECRET SERVICE FROWNS—

Of course, the secret service men didn't like it, but regardless of them, Harry Truman certainly enjoyed being Harry Truman.

Another incident the secret service men didn't like was when the President arose shortly after 6 a. m., left the austere frame 42-room Majestic Hotel which had been cleared of guests in his honor, and walked down to the Mississippi river. It seems that there is an old custom in those parts which makes it incumbent upon a visitor to spit in the father of waters.

The secret service men, not being in the know regarding this spitting custom, were taken by surprise. One of them, however, spotted the truant President of the United States ambling off in the direction of the river, sounded the alarm, and a few minutes later, four bodyguards were trailing him.

After Harry got through spitting, he skimmed a few stones out over the river, found that his technique as a stone-skimmer hadn't changed since boyhood days, and was then content to go back to town.

On the way, he met two old Caruthersville cronies, Neal Helm, county wholesale liquor dealer, and James Reeves, former commander of the American Legion. They swapped stories as they walked down to the post office, where they dropped in to see Postmaster Bailey S. Brooks. There they swapped some more.

Back in Washington, Secretary of State James Byrnes was just back from the most disastrous diplomatic conference in recent history with a lot of pressing problems to straighten out. In New York, Detroit and the coal mining areas, strikes were sending creeping paralysis up the industrial spine of the nation.

But the man who never really wanted to be President was enjoying himself back home.

"Harry has a strong cabinet," maintained one of his friends, "and he feels they are quite qualified to handle things without him."

Whether right or wrong, there is no question but that Harry Truman got a great kick out of forgetting he was president.

NOTE—Finally, after several phone calls from Washington, War Mobilizer Snyder took a special plane back to the humdrum life of strikes, inflation and reconversion.

—UNRRA SCANDALS—

UNRRA officials in London are worried lest congress learn of the extent to which the goods they have been shipping for European relief are being sold for private profit by UNRRA workers. Several reports on corruption within UNRRA personnel in Europe have been held up in London for weeks and not yet sent to Washington.

What has the British especially worried is the voluminous report made by the U. S. Army's Criminal Identification Division—which has been read in London but not yet officially turned over to UNRRA.

The situation became so bad that the U. S. army sent troops into French homes around the huge UNRRA center in Granville to seize huge stores of fruits, fresh vegetables and other foods allocated to feed UNRRA workers themselves but sold off before reaching UNRRA tables. Once last summer, a convoy of 120 trucks left Cherbourg for Granville—a four-hour trip. Because it was short of drivers, UNRRA borrowed 120 French drivers for this trip. Ninety-eight trucks of the original 120 arrived in Granville. No one has ever demanded to know where the other 22 are.

NOTE—Unfortunate fact is that there is always a lot of pilfering and scandal connected with wartime relief. In the last war, even Herbert Hoover's relief administration and the Red Cross were victims

Lord Haw Haw has been transferred from one English prison to another because fellow prisoners threatened to "get him." Britain isn't going to be robbed of that pleasure.

The person who tossed coins from a high floor of a New York skyscraper likely figured a little change is good for anybody these days.

It probably would clear up the paper shortage if Uncle Sam had all of that on which people intended to write to the boys in service, but didn't.

POTATO SHOW ON HERE TODAY

Program To End Tonight With Party-Dance At Cornell Hall

Delta county's 1945 Potato Show will open at 10 o'clock this morning with the viewing of exhibits of prize-winning tubers at 614 Ludington street, and will reach its climax tonight at the Cornell township hall, where a dancing party will be held, starting at 8 o'clock.

Sixty-seven of the county's leading potato growers will have exhibits entered in the 1945 Escanaba Potato Boosters Association contest, in which the certified seed and tablestock potato producers will compete for prizes totaling $600. The morning hours will be devoted to viewing the exhibits and to the work of the judges in the contest.

Starting at 2 o'clock this afternoon the growers will gather in the circuit court rooms at the courthouse in Escanaba for an educational program. Speakers will be Dr. L. Carl norr and E. J. Wheeler of Michigan State College, and H. C. Hoffman, a representative of the federal-state potato inspection service, will speak. Preparations for the program and the arrangements for the show have been made by E. A. Wenner, county agent, and a committee of the Escanaba Potato Growers Association.

Tonight at the Cornell township hall the names of the contest winners will be announced and the prize awards will be presented. O. V. Thatcher of Escanaba will be master of ceremonies.

Announcement also will be made of the winner of the county Potato Show queen contest, and the winning contestant will be introduced and reign during the evening festivity. Six townships have contestants entered in the queen contest.

Dancing will be enjoyed to the music of Forrest Ames and his orchestra.

August Welfare
Totals $43,833

A. M. Gilbert, director of the Delta county welfare department, has reported that welfare expenditures in Delta county for the month of August totaled $43,833.13. The direct relief load was shown to be practically the same as one year ago, while the number of persons receiving old age assistance has increased and aid to dependent children has declined. Old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind are financed equally by state and federal funds. Under this heading the total expenditure was $33,940.50. There were 820 receiving old age assistance, 157 receiving aid to dependent children and 10 aid to the blind.

Direct relief is financed by state and county funds. The report shows 243 persons on direct relief in August of this year, compared with 240 for the same month last year. The cost was $4,-

Victory Fund Aids In Financing Boy Scouts

The Boy Scouts of America, the Camp Fire Girls, the Salvation Army, the Girl Scouts and other local organizations will be financed during the coming year by contributions to the 1945 Delta county Victory Fund.

The Victory Fund drive is now open, and because there are a number of organizations whose work depends on the generosity of the public, the activities of these organizations and their importance to the community will be presented. S. N. Bradford, executive of the Red Buck district of the Boy Scouts of America, has prepared the following report on the work of the Boy Scouts in this 789.94 for direct relief, and $2,-651.33 for county medical and welfare.

County infirmaries, county welfare, and administrative costs are financed wholly by county funds. The report shows 13 inmates and 9 patients at the infirmaries. Administrative cost for the month was $1,236.10.

district during the past year. The Boy Scouts of America in Delta county during the past year have carried out a definite Scout program with the theme of "Getting the Program to the Boy" through the excellent cooperation of those interested in Scouting. Scouting in Delta county has reached a large number of boys from the age of nine and up, and has given them a boy's program, with worthwhile objectives which they like to do.

In Delta county there are seven Cub Packs with a membership of 215 Cubs; 12 Scout Troops with a membership of 310 Scouts; two Neighborhood Patrols with a membership of 13 Scouts; adult leadership on committees of 159; 23 volunteer unit leaders; 26 Den Mothers of Cub Packs, making a total membership in Delta county of 746, who are directly connected with Scouting in the Boy Scout program.

During the past year the membership in both Cubs and Scouts has increased to over a year ago, as well as an increased number of Scouts. During the past year it was found necessary to drop some units and its members, in view of their inactivity, but new units have been added in place of those dropped, and also gained new membership in addition to those dropped, which places membership over a year ago.

Activities during the past year have been manifold. There were Scout roundups in the fall of the year, for the purpose of getting all Scouts into action after the summer vacation. Cub Packs held get-together gatherings of parents and Cubs; courts of honor were held for recognition of work having been well done in Cubbing and Scouting; special meetings of executive staffs of respective units were held under the leadership of district committees, to instruct those members as to their responsibility and duties; special training sessions for leaders have been carried out; special recognition for Cubs and Scouts in the war effort were recognized; activities striving toward making the Cubs and Scouts more self-reliant; public service features on the part of Cubs and Scouts themselves, and many others of worthwhile note. Scouting is open to every boy in Delta county. Experience has proved that whenever a few people are willing to give of themselves in service to their younger brother-ers, boys can become Scouts. Any boy who becomes nine years of age can join the Cub Scouts, and on reaching 12, can join the Boy Scouts, and on to Senior Scouting at 15. It is for all boys, rich, poor, privileged, underprivileged, regardless of race, creed, or color.

VETERANS COME BACK TO JOBS

Former Escanaba City Employees Return To Positions

The majority of the 16 men employees of the city of Escanaba who entered military service and served their country during World War II have returned, or expect to return, to city employment, according to figures from the office of City Manager A. V. Aronson.

Veterans who have already returned to city jobs are as follows: John Duncan, who returned in March, 1944, and is employed in the public works department; Wellington Hinze, who returned to city employment in November, 1943, as senior clerk in the accounting office; William Pierson, employed in the fire department since he returned in April, 1944; Leo Londo, fireman operator at the gas plant, who returned in January, 1945; Kenneth Touthak, who returned to employment with the city as fireman operator at the city steam plant; Howard Kell, who recently returned as a member of the fire department.

There are four veterans, former city employees, who expect to return to their jobs soon. They are: Peter Breclaw, public works department; Harold Ball, truck driver in the public works department; Stanley Nelson, who is expected to become a member of the fire department; and Hubert McMonagle who will return to the police department as a patrolman.

Other former city employees now in service, or who have not returned to city employment, are Grandville Roeder, Nicholas Poquet, Leonard C. Ward, Lawrence Bjorkquist and Maurice Blixt.

Among the list of city employees in service there was one casualty: Walter Ottensman, who left the police department to enter service, was killed in action early in the war.

Other World War II veterans on city jobs, although they are not former employees, are: Paul Huff, a disabled veteran, who is assist-

Submarine Mero Coming To Escanaba Nov. 5-6

Retailers Discuss Business District Parking Problems

Parking problems in the Ludington street business district were discussed at some length at a meeting of the retail merchants committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

B. V. Sommers, chairman of the committee the past year, presided. He will be succeeded at the next meeting by F. J. Bode, who was appointed chairman yesterday by President John J. Bartella.

A salesman for a parking meter company attended yesterday's meeting and explained to the retailers how meters are being used to ease the parking problem in other cities. Some of the retailers proposed that vacant lots in the business district be utilized for the parking of automobiles owned by store and office employees. The use of courtesy cards for out-of-town shoppers was also suggested.

A special committee, composed of J. H. Jackson, H. C. Gerletti, F. J. Bode, Elmer St. Martin and B. V. Sommers, was named to confer with the Escanaba city council at its next meeting to work out a plan for improving the parking situation.

ant stock clerk; Lawrence Rouille, who is temporarily employed as a member of the police department; and Loren Jenkins, who recently began work as assistant city engineer.

The U. S. S. Mero, an 1800-ton submarine which cost $10,000,000 to build, will be on exhibition at the Escanaba municipal dock Nov. 5 and 6, Roy M. Overpack, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday. Arrangements for the exhibition of the Mero were completed here yesterday by Lt. (jg) Edgar N. Pike of the U. S. Navy.

The Mero was launched in Manitowish, Wis., and was the twenty-eighth of her type to be built there since the beginning of the war. It is 311½ feet long, draws 17 feet and is the U. S. Navy's last word in submarines. It carries radar equipment and is the type that constituted the backbone of the American U-boat fleet which broke the back of the Japs' lifeline in the Pacific.

Permits for going through the boat while it is docked in Escanaba will be limited to the families of navy personnel since it will be impossible to accommodate more than two thousand sightseers in the two-day period. The general public is invited to view the exterior of the boat, however.

The Mero is in command of Comdr. John H. Turner, 33, Manitowish, a veteran of eleven war patrols in submarines. Only Upper Peninsula sailor aboard the boat is S 1/c Kenneth J. Hranach of Menominee.

Mrs. Schuster

The ideals of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the activity record of the local organization provided the background for talks of Mrs. Ardyth Schuster and Mrs. Lillian Reynolds at the meeting of the local B. & P. W. Club held Monday evening at the Dells. About forty members and their guests were in attendance.

"Are you a citizen by chance or by choice?" "Do you understand your government and your community problems?" Mrs. Schuster asked her listeners, emphasizing that to be a good club member also meant being a good citizen. She described in some detail the emblem which is symbolic of the National Federation. "Our club offers us opportunities for discussion of social and economic problems as well as up-to-date information on legislation of interest to women," Mrs. Schuster said. "Most of all, however," she declared, "we have the advantage of joint action as a member of the National Federation."

Mrs. Reynolds described the growth and accomplishments of the National Federation since its organization in 1919 and also outlined the activities of the local club since its inception in 1929. "We have done our part in supporting or suppressing legislation which was considered detrimental to women," she said, and told of the Federation's program for the betterment of working conditions for women throughout the world. "The Federation, she said, is vitally interested in bringing the message of peace to the women of the liberated nations of the world and is taking an active part in the program of re-education."

Mrs. Elizabeth Peters and Mrs. Sybil Sullivan were welcomed as new members of the club. Mrs. Clara Strom, chairman of the membership committee, was in charge of the evening's program and she was assisted by Mrs. Schuster and Mrs. Vida Sayers.

Exhibits at the Second Annual Schoolcraft County Potato Show, while fewer in number than last year, were rated as superior in nearly every respect to last year's bumper crop.

For type, uniformity, freedom from disease and blemishes, and for tested cooking qualities, potatoes exhibited Wednesday at the old gymnasium rated exceptionally high and officials and judges predict that the Schoolcraft county product will be conspicuous among the winners at the Upper Peninsula show at Menominee next Monday.

Following are the winners:

QUARRY POOL
GIVEN PRAISELandscape Architect Says "It Has Everything"

A city beautification program involving a great deal more than the setting out of trees and shrubbery, Albe E. Munson, landscape architect of Detroit, who recently made a preliminary survey of the city with respect to its beautification possibilities, told a joint committee of the city recreation board and the Schoolcraft-Manistique Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening.

There must be assurance that projects launched will not only be completed but be maintained as well. The fallacy of entering into projects on a grand scale only to let them shift for themselves later on is only too evident when one considers the way CCC and WPA projects all over the country are being allowed to become eyesores because no provision has been made for keeping them up, he said.

In order to make a town beautiful and attractive, the town must show evidence that it is prosperous and progressive, he said. Business must carry on through 12 months of the year. The town must be interesting and life in it enjoyable. It must be able to put up a good front to the tourist and the visitor as well as the persons interested in establishing homes here.

Industries should be encouraged, he said, but added that great care should be taken in encouraging only those industries that will not mar the appearance of the city, that will not bring to the city a tide of labor of an unwanted class and create a relief load and slum problem. Light manufacturing plants, he said, are the most desirable.

Manistique "Just Grew"
Concerning Manistique, he said, that the city started without definite plan and "just grew." Originally a saw mill town, dependent primarily on the timber areas that surrounded it, Manistique suffered a severe and nearly fatal blow when the mills closed down. It has now passed the crisis safely and is finding itself, he said, and its opportunities are impressive.

Concerning Manistique's prospects as a city beautiful, he said that it was more than ordinarily blessed. The city owns much land and is particularly fortunate in the fact that most of the lake shore frontage is so owned.

Enthusias Over Quarry
Mr. Munson was particularly enthusiastic over the recreational possibilities afforded by the quarry pool and the land surrounding it. "The place has everything," he said. The water in the pool, he said, was ample to provide bathing facilities for hundreds of people daily during summer months and the opportunities for making the place attractive are unlimited.

He suggested that sand from the nearby dunes—if found suitable—be used to provide a beach; that some pumping system be installed to insure circulation of water in the shallow areas of the pool; that a bathhouse be built and that lifeguards be hired to insure safety of bathers during the bathing season.

The nice lay of the ground, he said, assured ample opportunities for beautification and for recreational advantages of every kind.

Plant Native Trees
With reference to beautification in general he urged the planting of native trees as much as possible. They are hardy and unsurpassed in beauty, he stressed.

He urged also that more restrictions be placed on billboards and that efforts be maintained at all times to keep entrances into the city as attractive as possible.

K of C Lodge Aids Community Chest
The Community and War Chest Fund was enriched by $33 as a result of a party conducted by the Knights of Columbus lodge at the lodge hall Tuesday night.

The entire net proceeds of the party were turned over to the fund.

MAYOR ISSUES
PROCLAMATION

Asks That Community
Observe Anniversary
Of Navy Act

Saturday, Oct. 27, will be the 170th anniversary of the founding of the American Navy, and Mayor Walter Burns, in cooperation with a nation-wide trend to have this day more generally recognized and observed, has issued the following proclamation:

Proclamation
Peace has returned, and our valiant Navy and its coordinated sea forces, the Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Naval Aviation, and Merchant Marine, have added nobly and to their long, honorable history. In all of our wars, our Navy waged victorious fights for justice and for freedom. Many thousands of our men and women in our sea services gave their lives that we might live and continue to enjoy the blessings of true democracy.

Saturday, October 27, will be the 170th anniversary of the founding of our Navy by act of the Continental Congress in 1775. As such, it will be observed as a day throughout the land by proclamation of the President of the United States.

Therefore, I, Walter Burns, Mayor of Manistique, call upon all of our citizens to participate in such an observance with appropriate celebration. May I request that the National Colors be displayed throughout the community, and that suitable observances be held in the schools and elsewhere, so that appreciation of the services and traditions of our Navy and all its men and women, both living and dead, may be fittingly expressed.

(Signed)
Walter Burns,
Mayor.

Billy Conn Refuses To Sign For Fight With Joe Louis Next June

BELTER WANTS TUNEUPS FIRST

Title Bout Plans Of Uncle Mike Jacobs Get Body Blow

BY SID FEDER
New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—A lot of fireworks went off around Promoter Mike Jacobs' beak-busting headquarters today, and the loudest of all was a flat refusal by Billy Conn to sign for his scheduled heavyweight title fight next June with Joe Louis.

The last time Billy signed for a Louis fight—in 1941—his manager, Johnny Ray, wouldn't approve the contracts until Jacobs lifted Conn's percentage of the gate, causing Mike to scream "you're breaking both my legs." Today, Ray beamed only over the clause barring Conn from any exhibition or tune-up tussles before the Louis go.

The little blond pilot who built Conn up from a frail kid off the streets of Pittsburgh into the belt-tying champion, was taking "Louis" title, wants Billy to have three tune-ups before meeting the Bomber again. To show he wasn't kidding, Johnny said he agreed verbally with co-promoter Freddy Sommers this afternoon to have Billy box an exhibition with Al Patterson of Pittsburgh in Kansas City auditorium November 7, on the Lee Savold-Wallace cross

LITTLE CHANGE IN GRID POLL

Escanaba Still Leads With Negaunee In Second Place

Lawyer Called In
Johnny had no immediate objections over other terms. But after nearly an hour of argument with Uncle Mike, Johnny called for his lawyer to come a-running from Pittsburgh and look over the papers for the fight, which, the promoter said, would go to the town "where we can get the most money."

Sporting a size 17 neck now, Conn reported he checked in at 190 pounds after leaving the Army two weeks ago, compared to the puny 174 he was packing for his last date with Joe.

Mike, in his argument with Ray, wanted to know why, if Louis agreed to the no pre-fight tune-up when he signed the contracts Monday, Ray and Conn couldn't do the same.

"What do I care what Louis is doing," Ray shouted, "I'm not managing Louis. I'm managing Billy."

"You want to manage both me and Billy, Mike. But I'm not gonna let you."

"After all, Louis can't fight a tune-up fight. He's the heavy-weight champion and any time he goes to the post, his title's at stake."

"Suppose something happens to Billy in a tune-up," Mike countered. "Suppose he gets hurt. I think I can sell this fight just as it is, without tune-ups."

"Yeah, but that's not getting my fighter in shape. I'm going to see that Billy's ready to go when he gets in the ring with Joe."

Baseball Gets Set For Biggest Boom Since Late 1920s

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Baseball appears ready for its biggest expansion boom since the golden days of the late 1920s with 10 "suspended" minor leagues already back in the fold at least 10 more new circuits due to face the barrier.

Record major league and World Series attendance totals, no doubt, were instrumental factors in this head-over-heels rush to reopen the gates, but the end of the war with its resultant steady flow of ex-servicemen toward the diamond was the big reason.

Latest unofficial figures from the National Association of Minor Leagues revealed 3,784 ball players on the national defense service list. An additional 874 were included on the voluntarily retired roles, made up largely of athletes who had left the game for defense jobs.

Winners in the ladies' day play Wednesday were: Low, Mrs. Paul Wohlen; high, Mrs. H. Huckenpahl; low putts, Mrs. Emerson Harvey; high putts, Mrs. John Lemmer; mystery prize, Mrs. W. Shuldes, Mrs. H. Reynolds.

LITTLE CHANGE IN GRID POLL

Escanaba Still Leads With Negaunee In Second Place

Menominee — Escanaba continued its domination of the upper peninsula grid picture for a straight month today, unanimous choice of sports writers for the No. 1 position for the fourth consecutive week.

Escanaba took a back seat only in the first poll when they rated fourth position while Ironwood dominated the field. After the second week, however, when Escanaba defeated Ironwood, they moved to the front and they have held that rating since.

Second place this week went to Negaunee for the third straight week, while Stambaugh, which lost only one game—to Negaunee, 7-6, is in third place, Iron Mountain fourth and Ironwood fifth.

There is plenty of room for upsets this week with Marquette at Negaunee, Escanaba at Iron Mountain and Ishpeming at Gladstone, but the chances are that favorites will come out with the usual victories.

A compilation of the first five polls gives Escanaba a decided edge, followed by Negaunee, Iron Mountain, Stambaugh, Ironwood, Sault Ste. Marie, Menominee, Gladstone, Hancock and Kingsford in that order.

Other teams getting votes since the poll started include Houghton, Iron River, Marquette, Calumet, Bessemer and Newberry.

The standings for the fifth poll (based on comparative scores and a representative schedule):

Points	Points
1—Escanaba .....	30
2—Negaunee .....	26
3—Stambaugh .....	25
4—Iron Mountain .....	19
5—Ironwood .....	17
6—Gladstone .....	15
7—Menominee .....	12
8—Sault Ste. Marie .....	10
9—Hancock .....	6
10—Kingsford .....	4

Winners in the ladies' day play Wednesday were: Low, Mrs. Paul Wohlen; high, Mrs. H. Huckenpahl; low putts, Mrs. Emerson Harvey; high putts, Mrs. John Lemmer; mystery prize, Mrs. W. Shuldes, Mrs. H. Reynolds.

MORE GO FISHING

The department reported sales had increased sharply with the end of gasoline rationing.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Ironwood won a football game last week by scoring a field goal to break a 6-6 tie with Ashland. Reports from Ironwood reveal that it was the first game in Ironwood football history ever won by the Red Devils by a field goal. To the best information available here, it was the first field goal scored by an upper peninsula team this season. It may even be the only field goal attempt of the season. The field goal as a scoring play in football has been virtually relegated to the ashcan by the rules committee, but it is encouraging to note that even now, once in a thousand games, it is resorted to break a stalemate and provide an added thrill for the fans.

The field goal deserves a better place in modern football than the rules committee has given it. Only two things are required to put the field goal back into the game as a potent scoring weapon and not just a feature of the game to be brought into use once a season. The first and most important, of course, is to return the goal posts to the goal line where they belong. The second is to increase the value of the field goal from three points to four points. Either change would be desirable without the other but the two combined would really put the foot in football. Some day the rules committee will wake up to the merits of this change, but it will have to be a different rules committee than the one that governs the game now.

There is no legitimate argument at all against increasing the value of the field goal to four points. Certainly two field goals should score more than a single touchdown, but under present rules a touchdown and the conversion beats two field goals. As a result no signal caller dare call for a field goal attempt in the early stages of the game, except under the most unusual circumstances. This is particularly true because a team has to be rapping on the goal to even be in position to attempt a field goal with any chance for success.

A team can pass into the end zone incomplete four successive times before it loses possession of the ball. One field goal attempt that fails becomes a touchback when it passes the goal line. This is as it should be, naturally, but in compensation for that penalty that value of a successful field goal should be increased to encourage its development. There is nothing sacrosanct about the present three-point value for a field goal. Raising the value to four points certainly could do no harm nor injustice to any team. On the other hand, it would do a lot of good by helping to restore a scoring play that it all but lost to modern football.

The only excuse for putting the goal posts on the end line, instead of the goal line, is the safety factor. Even a wellpadded football player may be injured ramming his dome against a steel post. The point is, however, that the goal posts need not be on the goal line. Only the cross bars need to be on the goal line. They can be suspended from posts that are set back at least five yards and perhaps as much as ten yards. Certainly modern engineering ingenuity would never concede that such a thing was impossible.

Hey, Fritz, those weren't frosh who ruined your Michigan boys last Saturday. Their names were Davis and Blanchard.

The National Association of Pro Baseball Leagues wants returning players to know that as soon as they are discharged from the services they should promptly make application in writing or by wire to President W. G. Braham asking for reinstatement to proper status in the game. We can look for the biggest fight ballplayer since the golden 20's the next few months as the result of Joe Louis signing to defend his title next June. When the training camps open, a hangnail or bruised thumb of Louis or Billy Conn will come in for more headlines than the Battle of the Bulge. What a whale of a difference a few months make.

Quote and unquote: Bernie Moore, Louisiana State coach, explaining why he had adopted the "T" formation for his football team when a year ago he had advised he knew nothing about it.

"I read an article by Shaughnessy in which he said you don't need any blocking for the T. Our alumni have always claimed that my teams don't have any blocking, so I figured it must be the right formation for me."

Hugh Devore is taking a lot of bows for yanking out his Notre Dame first stringers after they had scored a couple of times against Dartmouth and finishing the game with second, third, fourth, fifth stringers, etc. It was a gracious gesture and it had its own reward. Army and Navy scouts didn't see much, as you can't tell how far a cat can jump by looking at the kittens. The scouts didn't see enough of the first stringers to know much about them, but they probably can tell you all about the reserves. Smile! As unpredictable as a National Pro football league game.

While Ford probably is one of the most accurate passers on the Michigan squad, the Wolverine coaches are convinced that with all his height he's more valuable on the receiving end of the pitchers.

Ford was the target for several Michigan passes against Army last week, one of which Halfback Pete Elliott threw too short and too low or the big end could have hauled it in for a first down on the Army 15-yard line.

"I felt pretty bad about not catching that one," Ford said, assuming blame that was no more his than Elliott's. "I'll be working hard to make up for it though."

Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler's only complaint regarding Ford is that "he's pretty green." So, however, are many others on the Wolverine roster packed with 17-year olds.

BRAVES TAKING ON ISHPERING

Gladstone, Mich. — Gladstone football fans will have their last chance to see the Braves in action at home this season on Saturday when they face Ishpeming at Marble Athletic Field.

The Braves came out of the Newberry game without any serious injuries and after a rest for the first string Monday evening they got to serious practice for the game against the Hematites.

While Ishpeming hasn't been setting Upper Peninsula gridirons on fire this fall, they reputedly have a good offensive eleven and are dangerous at all times. Coupled with this is the fact that it is the final game of the season for them and they are bound to be keyed for this game.

Coach Eldon Keil is still sticking by the same lineup as has started the first four games and barring practice injuries there is little likelihood of any changes Saturday.

Remaining games, other than Ishpeming, on the Braves schedule are Stephenson and Escanaba. Both are to be played away from home.

College Football Has Not Given Up Spotlight to Pros

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Sports trail's short tales:

The Army-Michigan football game at Yankee Stadium drew 70,000 spectators. A National Pro league game at the same site the next day drew 35,000. Who was it said the pros were stealing the spotlight from the colleges, anyway? The University of Iowa is soliciting a fund for a Nile Kinnick Memorial scholarship honoring the fine young athlete and scholar who was lost when his fighter plane crashed into the Caribbean Sea June 2, 1943. Signs of the times: The Forty Fort, Pa., high school students went on strike because officials ruled a Forty Fort back had been stopped on the six-inch line on last down in the final minute of a game lost to Pittston, 13-12. Among other demands, the strikers wanted better officiating, "especially for Forty Fort."

Rye futures list, except wheat, sagged to lows for the week. Oats supported with rye and corn also advanced. Barley failed to recover from losses in previous list.

Wheat closed 1/4 to 7/8 higher than yesterday, December $1.76 3/4 to $1.78 7/8. Oats were 1/8 to 1/4 higher, December $1.18 1/4. Oats were unchanged to 3/8 higher, December 65 7/8 to 66 5/8. ## PROPS PLACED UNDER STOCKS

BY VICTOR EUBANK
New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis put props under a shaky stock market today when he called off the six-state soft coal strike considered one of the most serious threats to reconstruction.

Prices were uneven from the start but around midday announcement of the labor decree quickly changed the picture. Steels led the comeback followed by rails, liquors, utilities, rubbers and gold mines. Gains, running to more than three points at the best, were reduced or canceled in numerous cases at the close although plus signs had the better of the argument.

Sizable gains in low-priced issues again aided volume which totaled 1,800,000 shares compared with 1,630,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 1 point at 72.6, equaling the recent high since March 17, 1937. Steels touched a new high, 47.75, after a low of 46.25 on March 10, 1937. It was one of the 1,610 issues registering. Of these, 494 advanced, 423 declined and 213 were unchanged.

At peaks for 1945 or longer were U. S. Steel, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, National Distillers, Southern Railway, National Distillers, South American Gold & Platinum and Curtiss-Wright "A". Ahead were Dome Mines, Homestake, Texas Co., Great Northern, Northern Pacific, J. I. Case, Eastman Kodak and American Water Works. Commonwealth & Southern, coming out on top, were up 15.00 points.

Forward curb movers were Bowman-Biltmore first preferred, Electric Bond & Share, Venetian Petroleum, Union of America and Aro Equipment. The aggregate here was 870,000 shares versus 610,000 yesterday.

BOND RANGE NARROW
New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Bonds moved in narrow range with trends indecisive.

Missouri Pacific bonds attracted some demand, leading the rail section on a small advance in the averages. At the close they held gains of 1/2 to 3/4 of a point more than two points, with the 5 1/2 1977 up 2 5/8 points to 88 1/2. Sales, totaling $5,420,000, compared with an aggregate of $6,540,000 on Tuesday.

A block of Sylvania Electric Products preferred stock was the only new offering in the capital market.

Gainers of the day included Florida East Coast, 1954, up 3 points to 47 1/2; International Great Northern, 1945, with a 2 1/2

Infra-Red Lamp Proving Useful

New York—The wartime-developed infra-red lamp, that dried in a few minutes the coatings on giant Army fighting tanks and the finish on helmets for soldiers, is now solving difficult postwar science laboratory problems by use of an infra-red spectrophotograph, and particularly a new, versatile form developed in the petroleum industry.

Since almost no two compounds absorb infra-red radiation of the same wave-lengths, infra-red spectroscopy provides an excellent test, for the study of the structure of molecules and also for making analyses of substances which could be analyzed only with difficulty, if at all, by chemical methods. This statement was made today by Dr. Robert A. Oetjen at the meeting of the Optical Society of America. He is a scientist on the staff of the Beacom
Research Laboratory of the Texas company.

Dr. Oetjen described a new version of the infra-red spectrophotograph with extreme flexibility, developed in his laboratory for use in solving problems encountered in petroleum research. It uses one of two large prisms cut from synthetic crystals of sodium and potassium bromide. These are supplemented by two optional gratings which,
for certain wave-lengths, may be quickly switched into the radiation in place of the prisms. The instrument can be used for the examination of substances in the form of gases, liquids or solids.

He little thought when leaving home,
He would never return.
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die.
We only know he lost a war,
And could not say goodbye.
